Micro-credential Programmes (MCPs)

Japanese Language 1

Micro-credential Programmes (MCPs) are certification of assessed learning of knowledge, skills and competencies in a specific narrow area or field which can be components of academic programmes or standalone courses supporting professional, academic and personal development of learners.

Why MCPs?

Lifelong Learning

Knowledge and skills have to be continuously updated via short courses throughout their career path as part of professional development.

Recognise non-Formal Learning

MCPs expand the non-formal learning space and opportunities for learners.

Stackable

MCPs allow learners to take these MCPs in stages at their own comfort and lead to an academic qualification subject to the credit transfer policy of an Institution of Higher Learning.

Alternative to Traditional Degrees

MCPs enable those who have less inclination to join 3 or 4 years of university degree qualification to seek other viable options which are modular and add value to their existing experience.

Access

MCPs can extend the benefit of degrees to many more who lack opportunities to pursue a full time degree.
