Yong Pin, Wen Qian and Yap emerged as champions of the challenge after impressing the jury with their capstone project. They walked away with RM10,000 in cash and a trophy. The trio, who are pursuing a degree in engineering, had submitted their entry titled 'Intelligent Fire Evacuation System' as part of the programme's curriculum. The competition, held for the third consecutive year, encourages undergraduates to think, innovate and create breakthrough ideas to tackle technological challenges in today's rapidly changing world.
